Open-Ended Responses

1. In what ways did your instructor make learning possible for you during the Fall 2024 semester?

Comments
Paul often opened up the recitation for questions, and several times provided help on difficult homework problems.
Really good at explaining concepts quickly and effectively in the short recitation period.
N/A
He solved some practice questions and went through certain topics when asked.
He taught well and did a good job helping me with concepts I did not understand.
good teacher
He taught concepts well and provided good explanations and practices of the material.

2. Which aspects of this course should be kept for future times this course is taught?

Comments
The way he taught recitations, maybe having access to more practice with keys.
There is simply no need for a recitation. Worksheets are already shared on Canvas and there are like 3–4 topics that recitation covers which are again covered in the actual lecture anyway.
His teaching was very good.
good
I like that there is less pressure due to having no quizzes. We already have lots of pressure for the midterms and final, so having weekly quizzes would only add to students' stress

Department Specific

If you would recommend this Instructor for a teaching award, please briefly explain why.

Comments
He did advance as planned, and some of the less favorable reviews were not caused by him. He did his best, but I really don't think the recitation part is useful.
He was a charismatic educator that was ready to answer any questions given to him.
He was really good. I appreciate him helping me.
Chill guy
